

GROWING YOUR BEST LIFE

*A Weekend of Personal & Leadership Development
June 20 - 23, 2019*

Join us in the inspiring Sangre de Cristo Mountains in Crestone, CO to experience the unique, creative power of Nature to inform your life and leadership!

You'll join other talented women who have said yes to exploring what the Generative Council of the Center for Nature & Leadership has to offer by investing in their professional and personal growth with focused time away from technology to gain new perspectives, insight, and learning. Sure, there will be individual and group activities, but each day you'll also have guided solo time on the land to help you slow down and have firsthand experience with the wisdom that only Nature can provide!

By the end of our time together, you'll:

- *Get an introduction to nature-based leadership practices designed to enhance your leadership presence and effectiveness;
- *Reflect on your past and current strengths and achievements as you consider future next steps in your life and work;
- *Leave with a community of like-minded women to provide support and mentorship;
- *Be inspired and motivated to bring your best self to what matters most in your life!
