

GROWING YOUR BEST SELF

*A Weekend of Nature-Based Personal & Leadership Development
June 25-28, 2020*

Join us in Oregon's gorgeous Opal Creek Wilderness to experience the power of Nature to guide your life and leadership!

Step away from the buzz of western life. In place of persistent technology and hurried living, savor the richness and wisdom awaiting you on the land. Crystal clear waters cascade and eddy through stately old growth forests. Soft moss blankets stones, limbs, fallen logs and ferns unfurl their delicate lacy fingers. This is a place that will reconnect you with your inner child's sense of wonder.

This Generative Council gathering guides you through solo activities and graceful group work which enable fresh perspectives and deeper insights to propel you towards greater wholeness and artful living. The Center for Nature & Leadership has enriched and emboldened numerous talented, thoughtful women through this transformative experience with Nature and welcomes you on this journey!

During our time together, you'll:

- *Be introduced to nature-based leadership practices designed to enhance your leadership presence and effectiveness;
- *Reflect on your strengths and achievements to shape a richer personal and professional life through a variety of techniques;
- *Join a community of like-minded women who provide support and mentorship;
- *Be inspired and motivated to bring your best self to what matters most in your life!

Act now! Enrollment will be limited to twenty.
